

Camtasia: Add a Quiz to Your Video

This document will show you how to embed a Quiz in a video using Camtasia and receive submitted responses from the users.

NOTE: This option requires you to use Techsmith's platform, and it does have file size/ hosting limits. Consider using the Canvas Studio feature instead, which allows you to add quizzes and other features to ANY YouTube video.

For more info see our Canvas Studio webpage.

INSTRUCTIONS:

To add a quiz to your video lecture on Camtasia, follow the steps below.

Step 1: Click Interactivity from the left hand menu options:

Step 3: You can toggle back and forth between the quiz options and the quiz questions, by clicking on the icons shown below. NOTE: You can tell which button is enabled by a green bar directly underneath the icon.:

Step 4: From Quiz Options you can change the name of your quiz or make other edits. If you want to allow the users to see how they did on the quiz, make sure the box "Viewer can see their results" is selected. You can also choose to receive graded quiz results for the video.

Step 5: Click on the Question icon, and then select the Question Type from the dropdown menu. (Choices includes multiple choice, fill in the blank, short answer, and true/false.)

Step 7: Once you are done adding questions, preview the quiz by clicking on the Quiz Options tab and then click on the Preview button. The quiz will open in the default browser and you can test the quiz.

Step 8: All the other options are set when you produce the video. Several options support quizzing - share to screencast.com, MP4 with the video player options, or use the custom production settings. In this example, we'll use custom production settings. Click on the Share button on the menu and select Custom Production.

NOTE: YouTube and Vimeo are NOT options with the Camtasia quiz feature. Screencast.com is Techsmith's own platform, but they do have file size/hosting limits.

Step 9: Now select the format in which to save the video produced. Save it as the recommended MP4 Smart Player and click Next.
